Paper	Course	Outcome
Course Outcome: (Under CBCS)

Paper	Course	Outcome
SEM 1 ENG-HC-1016	Indian Classical Literature	This paper introduces students to a selection of literatures of India in English translation. Given that Indian Classical Literature offers a rich and diverse canvas that spans across genres like drama, poetry, the epic narrative as well as short fictional fables, to name a few, it is essential that students studying English literature are familiar with at least a few of these. This paper encourages students to think laterally about literatures of the world, and the possibility of cultural exchange.
ENG-HC-1026	European Classical Literature	Classical writing in Europe saw the emergence of traditions that cut across many genres, which included poetry, theatre, and general discourses. While the Aristotelian focus on the examination of the essentials of poetry extended to incorporate discussions on epic and drama, subsequent writers such as Horace drew attention to the purposefulness of the creative exercise. In the theatre the widely divergent compositions by Sophocles and Plautus respectively show the consolidation of a rich cultural discourse. It is this enriching literary tradition that this paper seeks to familiarize with through the study of representative texts belonging to the Classical Period.
SEM II		This paper develops familiarity

ENG-HC-2016	Indian Writing in English	with the issues of politics of language and gender, nationalism and modernity pertaining to pre and post-Independence India that have been responsible for the emergence of Indian English literature. It will also help understand the place of English Writing in India in the larger field of English Literature. It will help to discuss critically the use of literary forms of the novel, poetry and drama by Indian English writers in distinctive ways against Indian historical and cultural contexts.
ENG-HC-2026	British Poetry and Drama: 14th to 17th Centuries	This paper aims to familiarize the students with the two major forms in British literature from the 14th to the 17th centuries – poetry and drama, apart from acquainting them with the contexts that generated such literatures. The larger contexts of the Renaissance, the nature of the Elizabethan Age and its predilections for certain kinds of literary activities, and the implications of the emergence of new trends will be focused in this paper. It will also highlight the seminal issues and preoccupations of the writers and their ages as reflected in these texts.
Sem III ENG-HC-3016	History of English Literature and Forms	This paper helps acquire a sense of the historical development of each literary form. It will help gain understanding of the contexts in which literary forms and individual texts emerge. It will help them learn to analyze texts as representative of broad generic explorations.
ENG-HC-3026	American Literature	This paper seeks to acquaint the students with the main currents of American literature

		in its social and cultural contexts. The texts incorporated in the paper are a historical reflection of the growth of American society and of the way the literary imagination has grappled with such growth and change. A study of the paper, hence, should lead to an acquaintance with the American society in its evolutionary stages from the beginnings of modernism to the present as well as with exciting generic innovations and developments that have tried to keep pace with social changes.
ENG-HC-3036	British Poetry and Drama: 17th and 18th Centuries	This paper aims to familiarize the students with British literature in the 17th and 18th centuries, a time-period which sees the emergence and establishment of greatly diverse kinds of writings. The selected texts may encourage the students to look at the economic, political and social changes in (primarily) Britain during this period, such as the shifts from the Puritan Age to the Restoration and Neoclassical periods. The paper also seeks to familiarize the students with the larger contexts that generated such literatures as well as the possible impacts of the literature on society. The significance of the scientific revolution during this period may also be studied in relation to the literary productions.
SEM IV ENG-HC-4016	British Literature: The 18th Century	This paper aims to familiarize the students with British literature in the 18th century. A very interesting age in which reason and rationality dominated, this age saw the publication of some of the best

		novels and works of non-fictional prose and poetry in the English language. Though it was not predominantly an age of drama yet one cannot but pay attention to the few plays of the century. Although the texts in the course are mostly by men it must be noted that quite a number of women writers were also part of the literary scene. The texts in the course are representative of the age and to some extent representative of the forms as well. The selected texts hope to give the students an overview of the age and the writings that the age produced.
ENG-HC-4026	British Romantic Literature	The nineteenth century begins with the triumph of the Romantic imagination, expressing itself most memorably in the poetry of Blake, Burns, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Shelley, and Keats. The poetry of the age fashions itself partly in revolt to the spirit of the previous age, with very different ideas about the relationship between humans and nature and the role of the poet taking hold. This paper includes selections from works of major Romantic poets which address these issues, enabling students to appreciate the essence of the Romantic vision. In addition they will read that remarkable oddity, Frankenstein, a novel that also illuminates Romanticism from another angle.
ENG-HC-4036	British Literature: The 19th Century	The middle and later parts of the 19th century sees the novel coming into its own, although Jane Austen has already

		established the prestige of the novel form through her incisive explorations of the complexity of human motive and conduct, especially in their worldly affairs. The texts chosen will expose the students to the ground-breaking efforts of the poets as well to the works of fiction writers who manage to consolidate and refine upon the achievements of the novelists of the previous era. Austen to Rossetti represents a remarkable literary development and range of works, addressing a very diverse array of social preoccupations.
Sem V ENG-HC-5016	British Literature: The 20th Century	While literary modernity can trace its roots to the works of some European writers of the 19th century, in England it is in the 20th century that the era of Modernism finds its voice in arts and literature. The works of the writers chosen for this paper are good introductions to the spirit of modernism, with its urgent desire to break with the codes and conventions of the past, experiment with new forms and idioms, and its cosmopolitan willingness to open itself up to influences coming from other shores. The paper goes beyond the High Modern period of the early century and the students will also get acquainted with the ethos of postmodernism through a reading of recent poetic and fictional works.
ENG-HC-5026	Women's Writing	This paper seeks to direct the students' attention to nineteenth and twentieth century

		writings by women living in different geographical and socio cultural settings. Students will get acquainted with the situationally distinct experiences of women articulated in a variety of genres-poetry, novels, short stories, and autobiography, while the selections from Mary Wollstonecraft-the only 18th century text prescribed, will acquaint students with the ideas contained in one of the earliest feminist treatises of the western world. Apart from an examination of the themes and styles in the prescribed texts, students will be required to engage themselves with the specificities of the contexts from which the texts emerged and also analyze the women writers' handling of the different genres to articulate their women-centric experiences. Themes: Gender, sexual/textual politics, feminism, body, identity, class, location, voice, space, gender and narrative
DSE ENG-HE-5016	Popular Literature	Over the years popular literature has moved from the margins of earn to earn for itself a fairly important place in the literary and critical consciousness. This paper seeks to highlight the nature of 'popular' literature as a genre and the critical ideas underpinning the theorization of popular literature. This will be done through a practical engagement with various texts falling under its ambit
ENG-HE-5026	Modern Indian Writing in English	Literature in the various Indian languages presents a huge body of work testifying to the diverse cultural and regional

	Translation	preoccupations in the respective regions these languages belong to. This paper attempts to give students an introductory glimpse into this richness and diversity of Indian literature written in the regional languages.
ENG-HE-5036	Literature of the Indian Diaspora	In the light of global literature today focusing extensively on ideas of transnationalism, exile, migration, displacement, and so on, literature of the diaspora has come to exert a strong presence in the global scene. This paper will look at the diasporic experience with particular reference to Indian diasporic writers.
ENG-HE-5046	Nineteenth Century European Realism	The insistence on literary representation whose objective was to 'mirror' reality gained ground in nineteenth-century Europe across the different cultural spaces of the Continent. That is why varieties of realism surfaced in the literary traditions which were as culturally divergent as Russia and Spain. This paper is designed to provide an interesting sampling of the traditions that contributed to the growth and consolidation of European Realism in the nineteenth century. Study of these texts will also facilitate the understanding of the gradual movement towards modernism in the twentieth century which was, in many ways, both a response and a reaction to the major tendencies of European Realism.
ENG-HE-5056	Literary Criticism and Literary Theory	This paper will familiarize students with some important texts on literary criticism and literary theory. Beginning from William Wordsworth's Preface to the Lyrical Ballads the purpose will be to inform the students on the shifts in literary interpretations and critical approaches so as to equip them while reading texts across genres.

ENG-HE-5066	Science Fiction and Detective Literature	Science Fiction and Detective Literature have a fairly venerable ancestry, going back at least two centuries. Some fine literary minds have engaged with these genres, and their creations can be fruitfully studied to explore ways in which new narrative possibilities have emerged due to the human fascination for crime, mystery and improbable occurrences.
Sem VI ENG-HC-6016	Modern European Drama	The paper aims at introducing students to the innovative dramatic works of playwrights from different locations in Europe, which taken together represents the wide range of modern drama and its fortunes on the written page and the stage. The selected plays would allow an understanding of the emergence of avantgarde movements and trends and dramatic devices and techniques during the period of modernism which eventually influenced theatrical practices in other nations of the world.
ENG-HC-6026	Post-Colonial Literature	European Colonialism since the fifteenth century changed the face of the world in many significant ways, and the effects of the experience of colonialism remain in many countries around the world even in the postcolonial era. This paper gives the students an opportunity to acquaint themselves with some of the novels, short stories and poems from postcolonial literatures across the world, with the texts showcasing the many regional, cultural differences and peculiarities, as well as common and shared experiences of the postcolonial condition.

Students will have to acquaint themselves with the development of the form from the time of Francis Bacon (1561-1626), and examine the emergence of the periodical essay in the 18th century in the hands of Addison and Steele particularly because of favourable conditions like the increase in literacy rates and the appearance of a large number of periodicals which provided a forum for the articulation of views on a variety of topics.
5.4	The Essay in English: The Twentieth Century	1. This paper will introduce students to developments in the genre of the essay in the 20th century. 2. Students will note how the genre has adapted in order to address a variety of contemporary issues and become the vehicle for representing personal experiences, moved into literary,

		social, and cultural criticism and engaged in polemic and persuasion.
5.5	Life Writing: Biographies, Memoires and Letters	1. This paper will enable the students to appreciate the element of narrativization in seemingly linear, transparent, straight forward accounts of lives of significant people set down in memoirs, biographies and letters. 2. This paper will try to have that sense of narrativization which informs all that text, which underscore the 'literary' quality of all texts by looking at various forms of life-writing such as memoirs, letters and biographies.
5.6	Women's Writing	1. This paper on writing by women introduces students to a body of literature that has emerged with growing feminist awareness of women's lives and their representation. 2. Students will address women's issues and interests, the condition of women in the place and time of the writer and uses and subversions effected in the genre of the novel by women in Section I.
6.1	Literary Criticism	1. This paper acquaints students with some of the key ideas of Western literary criticism from Graeco-Roman antiquity to the modern period and expects them to

		examine the implications of ideas, and orientations that have marked the history of literary criticism. 2. The paper is designed to present students with the opportunity to study key concepts associated with the names of significant thinkers in this history.
6.2	Twentieth Century Criticism and Theory	This paper introduces students to key ideas and texts that will familiarize students with the intellectual shifts in the reading of culture, language and literature in the 20th century and the emergence of Theory and acquaint them with common concepts and notions that, they are likely to encounter in the reading of theory.
6.3	Nature	1. This paper seeks to explore the process through which language and literature - as manifestations of culture - are produced by the interconnections between both nature and culture; it addresses nature not just as a passive background in literary texts but as a central presence determining the dynamic interpretations of the text itself.
6.4	Western Mythology: Introducing Classical & Judaeo-Christian	1. This paper is an introduction to the study of Classical and Judeo-Christian myth and their recurrence in later social, historical, cultural and literary contexts.

	Myth
